

THE CITY.

The district court calls for today remain the same as yesterday.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Joseph Malory and Mary Peterson, both of Omaha.

Three minor permits, aggregating $1,100, were issued by the superintendent of buildings yesterday.

The temperature yesterday as reported by the local signal service office was as follows: At 7 a. m., 22°; at 10 a. m., 23°; and at 1 p. m., 25°.

The members of the board of public works and the city council committee on paving went to Louisville yesterday to examine into the quality of paving brick made there.

"A Friend" writes Chief Seavey from St. Louis that "if Charles Roeder will publish his address and let his wife know of his whereabouts, he will hear something to his advantage."

Fannie Herndon, the woman who was arrested for robbing a man in a house on Ninth street Wednesday night, was tried yesterday in police court and was bound over to the district court in bonds of $300.

The viaduct ordered by the city council over the Belt line at Hamilton street will be 46 feet long, 66 feet wide and 25 feet above the railroad tracks. It will be similar to that at Park street, and its cost—the contract is yet to be let—will, the city engineer thinks, be about $3,000 or less.

Sheriff Boyd received a letter from one H. C. Ziegler, Sandy Lake, Pa., inquiring regarding Harry Rodgers, the one-armed man who was arrested in the Douglas county jail. Mr. Ziegler says that he has a ward boy answering Rodgers' description, and he thinks they are one and the same. The sheriff will correspond with Ziegler.

At the temple on Harney street near Twenty-fourth, Rabbi Roseman is at present delivering a course of lectures on "Agreements and Disagreements Between Moses and Mohammed, Judaism and Islam." The second of the series entitled, "The Reformer Comes," will be taken up this evening. Services commence at 7:30 o'clock sharp, and all are cordially invited to attend.

TRANSFER CHECKS.

The Street Railway Company Asked to be Liberal with Them.

Councilman Blumer, who introduced a resolution at the last meeting of the council looking to the securing of a more liberal system of transfers on the street car lines in the city, tells The Bee that he has every reason to believe that the move will be a success.

"All that our committee will ask of the folks," said he, "is that they transfer passengers between or on any two lines in the city. And we shall carry more than half the cost. It is all wrong the way in which the company continues taking money from particularly the laboring class in the city. Especially is this so in the summer, when laboring men take their families out to one of the parks. It costs him about a dollar—say that he has five or six children—to get out to a park, as the system of fares now stands."

"What if the street car company refuse?" "Oh, well, I don't think they will. They are a pretty liberal lot of gentlemen. If they do refuse I have no doubt as to the power of the city to force them. Chicago made her street cars free for the poor, and Omaha can do the same thing. The Omaha company can no longer make the plea that it is no more than paying expenses. I know that it is making money and big money now. But then, as I said before, I think it will come around all right."

Two Great Fights.

There are to be two notable fights to-night in widely separated cities, one in Jersey City and the other in San Francisco. In many respects the latter is the most important. It will be between young Mitchell and George La Blanche. As the first conqueror of Jack Dempsey and the victor in many other fights, La Blanche ranks high as a pugilist, while his antagonist, young Mitchell, whose true name is Peter F. Herget, is considered as a coming warrior. He was long a pupil of Dempsey's, and has won many fights in the past. The case that he is now the favorite in the betting over the coming fight, despite the formidable reputation of the Marine. He is young, very active on his feet, and very scientific, a tremendously hard hitter, and is said to be an adept in the use of the pivot. He has, through the use of which La Blanche disposed of Dempsey, La Blanche is well aware of the fact that he is to meet a dangerous opponent, and is reported to have trained as he never trained before.

After the failure to bring off the fight between McCarthy and Dixon last week, owing to police interference, the two sides were told to keep in training pending an effort to find a new fighting place. At first it seemed doubtful if anything could be done, but the Hudson athletic club finally came forward with a tender of the Oakland rink in Jersey City, and an assurance that no interference with the fight would be done. The club will accommodate 3,000 spectators comfortably, and it is quite sure to be crowded to the utmost when the two crack featherweights face each other. Their first fight ended in a draw at the end of seventy-two rounds, and as they are evenly matched it would not be surprising if their second encounter results in another long drawn-out affair.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For the last three nights of this week, commencing Thursday, February 19, Deanna Thompson and G. W. Rye, authors of "The Old Homestead," will present for the first time in this city their beautiful American drama, "The Two Sisters," the companion piece to "The Old Homestead." The story of the play is not at all complicated. Martha and Mary Howard, two country girls, drift to New York in search of work. Martha, the eldest, is a girl; just the opposite of her modest sister. On their way they meet a thoughtless young villain known as Harry Horton, whose attentions are so bold that they take shelter in a hotel nearly opposite the home of their pursuer. It started as a fancy; grew to a restless passion, which fed on promises that ended in shame. Pure to her untold love there came a child to chide her, while she carressed it she saw it growing weaker each day, and it died in her arms before it had anything but love to give to its birthright. Now it is full of the emotion of the human heart. Seats are now on sale.

On Sunday evening next the celebrated comedian, Pat Harrington, of the Grand Old Lady, will appear with his grand and clever dancing, and create much laughter with his miscellaneous collection of "Impersonations." "The New World" is the title of the play, which the star, supported by a strong company, including among others, little Mattie Rooney and the famous Quaker City quartet.

Hay's latest, and said to be his best effort, "A Texas Steer," will be at Boyd's the first of the week. "A Texas Steer" is a satirical comedy in a prologue of three acts. It is considered to be by far the best and most successful comedy Mr. Hoyt has yet given to the theater going public. Mr. Hoyt will be here and will personally direct the performance. It will be given by the original New York cast. Sale of seats opens Saturday at 10 a. m.

The Rhinehart family playing at the Eden Musee this week is a standard attraction seldom seen in a popular price theater. They are beautiful, witty and graceful. Beatrice Rhinehart is one of the most beautiful ladies on the stage. Her songs are gems. In the curio hall Bill Jones, the glass cleaner, and the Nebraska triplets are the features.

OUT OF FOOD AND FEED.

The Condition of Unfortunate Farmers in Custer County.

Any number of reports have been received of the condition, in a general way, of the farmers in some of the drought-stricken districts in the western part of the state. Few of the reports, however, show in detail the actual condition of individual farmers.

Mr. John Steel, agent of the Northwestern life insurance company, has received a letter from a friend at Gothenburg, dated February 17, in which the following picture of destitution is drawn:

"You see I have a farm up here in Custer county in the 'Burnt district.' I rent to my father and he and my two younger brothers run the place. Last year they did not raise a single bushel of grain, except fifty-six bushels of wheat from sixty acres. I have been putting up to keep the stock alive in hope that the government would do something, but I guess that hope is a vain one. Last night I got a letter from father. It is his last. The boys and I are all sick in bed and mother has the ague. Can not get coal enough to keep the house warm. We have about twenty pounds of flour left; no tea, coffee or sugar. We have been drinking hot water and playing it was coffee. Have two bushels of corn left that will feed till Wednesday noon, and then don't know what we will do, as the snow is still coming."

"Although you would think from the extracts from father's letter that my folks are badly fixed, still they are better off by 50 per cent than most of their neighbors. And still the legislature is wrestling over the mighty problem of how many type writers they ought to have, or some other question equally important."

SOUTH OMAHA IS A WINNER.

The Magic City Gains its Point in the Boundary Dispute.

"The decision of the supreme court in the case of the city of Omaha vs South Omaha and Hecker will probably be the means of compelling the city to pay for about one hundred and fifty feet of paving on Twenty-fourth street south of the city limits," remarked City Engineer Tillson in reply to a question. "The decision is not a surprise to me, as I expected just that sort of a decision, but it settles a matter which has been the subject of much dispute."

"The territory affected is about a mile long and half a mile wide. In 1887 it was given power to extend its limits to twenty-five miles and include villages within its limits. An ordinance was passed in April, 1887, extending the limits so as to include the north part of South Omaha as far south as F street. About the same time South Omaha became a city of the second class, but the proclamation of the governor was not issued until October following."

"Congressman Connell, who was then city attorney, thought there could be no question but that the city had the right to include part of South Omaha, as that place was a village when the limits of Omaha were extended. When the city started to grade and pave down, however, the question came up as to whether the city had the right to include the territory within South Omaha from collecting taxes on the property in dispute. The city established the grade of Twenty-fourth street into the disputed territory in order to test the matter."

"The city will probably have to pay for the paving, but the matter is settled."

The Real Estate Exchange. There was unusual interest displayed at the meeting of the real estate exchange yesterday. A number of strangers were present, prominently among them being T. S. McMurray, president of the Denver real estate exchange.

Secretary Wilson announced that he had sent away 16,000 of the real estate exchange folders and still had 9,000 on hand for distribution. These will be given to parties who will promise to send them to another edition of the folder will be issued by Mr. Wilson about the middle of next month. Unlike the present folder, the new one will show some comparative tables of sales, transfers, bank clearings and building permits of the two months of the present year.

A number of new pictures adorn the walls of the exchange room, one of the largest being a pen sketch of the Merchants' National bank building. All of the architects of the city who have drawn drawings of the prominent buildings of the city are requested to hand them in the exchange room. The sales reported were as follows:

Lot 25, block 8, Hanson place, $4,500 cash.

Lot 8, block 1, Pottery's addition, $2,750. Part of lot 15, block 2, Sherman Avenue part, $500.

Mr. McMurray was invited to the platform and introduced by President Hartman. Mr. McMurray referred to the fact that he at one time resided in Omaha and is glad to witness the prosperity of the city. Continuing his remarks he said: "In our exchange we have 125 members, and I know that we have accomplished much for the city of Denver. I realize that you gentlemen are doing the same thing for Omaha. You have done well in improving your streets, but you must pay more attention to your sidewalks. I see that you have extended your time limit for the city. It was very wise, as there is nothing that inspires the confidence of a stranger like walking about a brick and stone city."

In concluding his remarks he said that there is no rivalry between Omaha and Denver, as the interests are identical. He hoped the time is not far distant when Kansas, Denver, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha City will stop fighting over which is the largest, and join hands and go to work toward uplifting the great west. He advocated the holding of a real estate convention in the near future, believing that such a meeting will do much toward the prosperity of the country.

To Entertain the Legislators. Prof. Gillespie of the deaf and dumb institute will go to Lincoln today with twenty-eight pupils of the institute to give an exhibition for the benefit of the members of the legislature. The entertainment will be given in the First Baptist church. The party will leave on the special car attached to the 10:25 train on the B. & M. road.

We have made a great purchase of RIBBONS, TORCHON LACES AND EMBROIDERIES.

At the great auction sale at Field, Morris & Fenner, N. Y., we bought the largest and best line of ribbons we have ever seen. As the goods were purchased for cash, the prices were extraordinarily low. We have also bought at auction an immense line of Torchon laces and embroideries. The goods are here and marked off, but we will not place them on sale till Saturday, so as to give the school teachers, who have no other time at their disposal an opportunity. Remember Saturday.

WILL LEAVE THE EXCHANGE.

South Omaha Packers Will Withdraw From the Cattle Corporation.

One of the managers of the packing houses on being interrogated as to the future course to be pursued by the packing houses in the controversy between the live stock exchange and the American live stock commission company, said: "I cannot see what object the packers can have to longer remain members of the live stock exchange. In point of numbers the packers are in a hopeless minority, and as our interests are never consulted nor considered in actions by the exchange I can see no reason why we should either be bound by its rules or governed by its actions. The sentiment among the packers is that they will withdraw from the live stock exchange and will buy from anyone who has stock in the yards to sell."

ANOTHER HOSPITAL.

The Presbyterians Have One Ready for Patients.

Although not known to the general public, Omaha has a new hospital in full operation. Some months ago the members of the Presbyterian churches of the city conceived the idea of establishing a hospital and at once went to work. Since then the association has rented a building at 1620 Wirt street and fitted it up with everything for the convenience of caring for sixteen patients.

The following rules govern the institution: Five thousand dollars will endow one bed permanently; $500 will support one bed one year; $20 will support one bed one month; $7 will support one bed one week. Permanent endowment of one bed entitles the donor to name the bed. Churches, Sunday schools, societies, or individuals who make donations as above will receive a certificate from the Presbyterian association of Omaha. Donations of all kinds of hospital supplies and medicines are solicited and will be thankfully acknowledged. Charity patients will receive medical and surgical attention free. Paying patients occupying a general ward will be charged $10 per week. Patients occupying private rooms will be charged $15 per week. Medical and surgical attendance on paying patients will be the usual fees, or as per agreement. All regular physicians in good standing have equal privileges in access to the hospital.

Donations of money should be sent to David Jamison, room 422 Bee building, while supplies should go direct to the hospital. The medical department is in charge of Dr. W. O. Henry. The advisory committee consists of Dr. Denise, Rev. Asa Leard, Dr. McClelland, Mrs. J. C. Denise and Mrs. T. A. Creigh.

Work on the City Hall.

"Work will be resumed upon the new city hall within a few days," said Contractor Coats, yesterday. "The trouble is," he continued, "that we did not expect an open winter, and informed the Indianapolis firm that had the contract for furnishing the iron for the roof that this material would not be needed until spring. A few weeks ago we realized that work would progress all winter. We then wrote this firm to hurry up the work. Since then we have received information that the material is ready and will be shipped in a few days. As soon as it arrives the work will be put on, so that until then we can do nothing, as the walls have been carried up as high as they can go until the iron is put in place."

The Jury Failed to Agree.

H. Schenck, who operates a saloon at 1727 South Tenth street, was tried yesterday in police court upon a charge of having sold liquor on Sunday, February 1. Officer Shoop was the principal witness, and the testimony was quite clear. The jury failed to agree, after being out almost an hour. Commissioners Gilbert and Bennett of the fire and police board were present and gave the hearing of the case very close attention.
